NH-2-C-1 South facade of Monadnock Mill No. 3 (1892).

NH-2-C-2 Monadnock Mill No. 3 from the southwest. A photo dating from ca. 1900 (collection of the Claremont Historical Society) shows that the thermal windows on the top level of the tower were originally unglazed, and that there were "areaways" which have been filled in. These areaways originally allowed light to enter the basement level through eight over eight sash windows.

Researchers are referred to HAER No. NH-1, Claremont Village Industrial District, for other photos of the Monadnock Mills complex.
